1. You are running for mayor of your hometown/city. Give a campaign speech explaining how you would solve the problems and maintain the attractiveness of your town/city.

2. Explain what you will do when you graduate from the university. Describe your immediate plans, such as a celebration or party, as well as your short- and long-term career plans.

3. Describe what your life will be like in five or ten years. Explain where you will probably work and what you will do, where you will live, and what your house/apartment will be like. Describe your family and social life as well.

4. Explain how your life would change if you became a famous TV or movie personality. Talk about where you would live, work, and go for vacation. Describe any changes that would occur in your personality.

5. Explain what you would do if you were not a student and had the time and the money to fulfill your dreams.

6. Ask your instructor what he/she would do under different circumstances. Find out
   - what he/she would do if he/she were president of the university.
   - what he/she would do if he/she were president of the U.S.
   - where he/she would go if he/she had a lot of money.
   - what he/she would do if he/she had more free time.
   - where he/she would live if he/she had the opportunity.
   - what he/she would change in life if he/she had the opportunity.

7. Talk about the suggestions and advice your parents gave you when you were in high school. Describe what they wanted you to do, did not permit you to do, and suggested that you do. Then tell whether or not you followed their advice and why.

8. A co-worker (played by your instructor) was sick yesterday and missed an important sales meeting. Explain to him/her what the boss told the group to do. Give your co-worker the specific suggestions the boss gave about working harder, arriving on time, selling more, not wasting time, etc.